Assignment Writing Tips

You do not have to follow the steps below. However, if you are new to report writing, you might find following such a guideline helpful.

- Description of data including source, details on variables, relationships between variables, descriptive analyses, etc.
- Description of the problem being addressed.
- Description of the techniques used, including the rationale for the choice of parameters, etc.
- Descriptions of results, both in technical terms and in the context of the data.
- Conclusions, in the context of the data and the problem being addressed.
